A journey through Song of Solomon

“Into Me See” SERIES OVERVIEW:

Most people are looking for love. Most people are looking for companionship. It's why we date. It's why we marry. But what we are all craving within the depths of our spirit is intimacy.

A closeness to and with someone. Intimacy can be described as Into Me See. Being vulnerable and courageous enough to invite someone else to really see you...to really know you...the real you. And for that invitation to be reciprocated. In this new series entitled Into Me See, we will be diving into the OT book known as The Song of Solomon to glean from the poetic story of one couples journey into intimacy.

THE BOOK OF SONG OF SOLOMON

Author: Solomon wrote Song of Solomon, according to the first verse. This song is one of 1,005 that Solomon wrote (1 Kings 4:32). The title “Song of Songs” is a superlative, meaning this is the best one.

Date of Writing: Solomon most likely wrote this song during the early part of his reign. This would place the date of composition around 965 B.C.

Purpose of Writing: The Song of Solomon is a lyric poem written to extol the virtues of love between a husband and his wife. The poem clearly presents marriage as God’s design. A man and woman are to live together within the context of marriage, loving each other spiritually, emotionally, and physically.

This book combats two extremes: asceticism (the denial of all pleasure) and hedonism (the pursuit of only pleasure). The marriage profiled in Song of Solomon is a model of care, commitment, and delight.

Key Verses:

Song of Solomon 2:7; 3:5; 8:4 - “Do not arouse or awaken love until it so desires.”

Song of Solomon 5:1 - “Eat, O friends, and drink; drink your fill, O lovers.”

Song of Solomon 8:6-7 - “Place me like a seal over your heart, like a seal on your arm; for love is as strong as death, its jealousy unyielding as the grave. It burns like blazing fire, like a mighty flame. Many waters cannot quench love; rivers cannot wash it away. If one were to give all the wealth of his house for love, it would be utterly scorned.”

Brief Summary: The poetry takes the form of a dialogue between a husband (the king) and his wife (the Shulamite). We can divide the book into three sections: the courtship (1:1 - 3:5); the wedding (3:6 - 5:1); and the maturing marriage (5:2 - 8:14).

The song begins before the wedding, as the bride-to-be longs to be with her betrothed, and she looks forward to his intimate caresses. However, she advises letting love develop naturally, in its own time. The king praises the Shulamite’s beauty, overcoming her feelings of insecurity about her appearance. The Shulamite has a dream in which she loses Solomon and searches throughout the city for him. With the help of the city guards, she finds her beloved and clings to him, taking him to a safe place. Upon waking, she repeats her injunction not to force love.

On the wedding night, the husband again praises the beauty of his wife, and in highly symbolic language, the wife invites her spouse to partake of all she has to offer. They make love, and God blesses their union.

As the marriage matures, the husband and wife go through a difficult time, symbolized in another dream. In this second dream, the Shulamite rebuffs her husband, and he leaves. Overcome with guilt, she searches the city for him; but this time, instead of helping her, the guards beat her—symbolic of her pained conscience. Things end happily as the lovers reunite and are reconciled.

As the song ends, both the husband and wife are confident and secure in their love, they sing of the lasting nature of true love, and they yearn to be in each other’s presence.

Foreshadowings: Some Bible interpreters see in Song of Solomon an exact symbolic representation of Christ and His church. Christ is seen as the king, while the church is represented by the Shulamite. While we believe the book should be understood literally as a depiction of marriage, there are some elements that foreshadow the Church and her relationship with her king, the Lord Jesus. Song of Solomon 2:4 describes the experience of every believer who is sought and bought by the Lord Jesus. We are in a place of great spiritual wealth and are covered by His love. Verse 16 of chapter 2 says, “My beloved is mine, and I am his. He feeds his flock among the lilies” (NKJV). Here is a picture of not only the security of the believer in Christ (John 10:28-29), but of the Good Shepherd who knows His sheep—believers—and lays down His life for us (John 10:11). Because of Him, we are no longer stained by sin, having had our “spots” removed by His blood (Song of Solomon 4:7; Ephesians 5:27).

Practical Application: Our world is confused about marriage. The prevalence of divorce and modern attempts to redefine marriage stand in glaring contrast to Solomon’s Song. Marriage, says the biblical poet, is to be celebrated, enjoyed, and revered. This book provides some practical guidelines for strengthening our marriages:

- 1) Give your spouse the attention he or she needs. Take the time to truly know your spouse.
- 2) Encouragement and praise, not criticism, are vital to a successful relationship.
- 3) Enjoy each other. Plan some getaways. Be creative, even playful, with each other. Delight in God’s gift of married love.
- 4) Do whatever is necessary to reassure your commitment to your spouse. Renew your vows; work through problems and do not consider divorce as a solution. God intends for you both to live in a deeply peaceful, secure love.

"INTO ME SEE"

WEEK 5

Discussion Questions:

For getting the most out of the Song of Solomon, one of the best guidelines is found in 2 Timothy 3:16-17. Paul wrote that all Scripture is of great benefit to (a) teach us, (b) rebuke us, (c) correct us, and (d) train us in righteousness. Paul added that these Scriptures completely equip the person of God "for every good work." As you think seriously about those guidelines, in which of those areas do you especially want to experience in your study through the Song of Solomon?

For married couples: What are some of your favorite memories about your honeymoon?

For those who are single: What are you looking forward to the most about your honeymoon?

Read Song of Solomon 4:1-5:1.

What do you see taking place in the relationship between the man and the woman in this passage?

What is unique about Solomon's approach to his bride compared to most men?

How important is it to express our appreciation of our spouses' physical appearance? Why is this important in your own relationship? How would you assess yourself in this area?

One of Rob's main points in his message was:

"Great sex isn't about what you get...it's about how you serve."

Read Matthew 20:20-28.

Jesus defined greatness by serving. How does this translate into the marriage relationship?

In what ways do we need to be aware of how selfishness can play a harmful role in our sexual relationship and marriage?

Another of Rob's main points from his message was:

"Sex is a great gift from God for married people."

How is this wisdom from God different than what the world proclaims?

Playing off of Rob's illustration about the effects of sex outside of marriage, imagine as a group about what would our world be like if everyone obeyed this protective rule instituted by God.

What do you learn about the character and nature of God through this protective rule?

What are the images, ideas, and values in this section that can have the most personal meaning for you in your marriage?

The following aspects of marital love have been pointed to as important themes of the Song of Solomon. In 4:1-5:1, in what ways, if any, do you see these aspects of marital love reflected?

- Giving of self:
- Desire:
- Delight in each other:
- Commitment:
- Marriage as a reflection of God's love:

How was your view of sexual intimacy change as result of this chapter?

How has your study in chapter for a Song of Solomon affected your perspective on the passion of marriage love?

Looking back at this week's teaching and study, is there one thing you'd especially like to remember this week?
