COMMUNITY GROUPS

NMC SERMON SERIES CONTENT

"Pivot: A study in the book of Acts" SERIES OVERVIEW:

Everything in our lives seems to be changing these days and every change is causing us to pivot in a new direction. As we look into the book of Acts, we will see how the early church was formed, grew, and learned to pivot as God led them to new people and places. In this series, we'll be reminded that the same God who was with the early church at every pivot is also still with us.

Leadership Moment:

LEADER ESSENTIAL: "REPLACING Yourself, part 2"

Replace Yourself

By passing on knowledge, skills, and opportunities, you are preparing others for future leadership while sharpening your own abilities.

Essential Question:

How are you intentionally investing in a potential leader in your Community Group?

"Replacing Yourself" usually begins with one of the other Eight Leader Essentials: Promote Participation.

As you delegate tasks to your group members, you'll begin to see who might have the passion, competence, and spiritual maturity necessary to become a good apprentice. When you have identified that person, talk to them and invite them into leadership alongside you.

You don't have to be an expert leader to take someone under your wing. You just have to be willing to be intentional, have some conversations with them, and to allow your pro·té·gé to share in leading the group. Replacing yourself is less about training someone else than it is about modeling behavior and allowing the person to take on more and more leadership responsibilities while knowing that there is a safety net.

Here is the first of three reasons as to why "Replacing Yourself" is important:

1. – Moses apprenticed Joshua. Elijah apprenticed Elisha. Paul apprenticed Timothy. But the clearest example of apprenticing is Jesus and His disciples.

If anyone could have done ministry on His own, it was Jesus. But He didn't. His disciples were always with Him – watching, listening, and always learning. Over time, He increased their responsibilities, until ultimately, He left them in charge of impacting the world and reproducing their leadership.

Application Question:

Who in your group has the potential and posture of an apprentice? Schedule a time to discuss becoming an apprentice in the next two weeks with them.

THE BOOK OF ACTS

Author: The book of Acts, also called Acts of the Apostles, does not specifically identify its author. From Luke 1:1– 4 and Acts 1:1–3, we know that the same author wrote both Luke and Acts. The tradition from the earliest days of the church has been that Luke, a companion of the apostle Paul, wrote the books of Luke and Acts (Colossians 4:14; 2 Timothy 4:11).

Date of Writing: The book of Acts was likely written between AD 61 and 64.

Purpose of Writing: The book of Acts was written to provide a history of the early church. The emphasis of the book is the fulfillment of the Great Commission. Acts records the apostles being Christ's witnesses in Jerusalem, Judea, Samaria, and the surrounding world. The book of Acts sheds light on the gift of the Holy Spirit, who empowers, guides, teaches, and serves as our Counselor. Reading the book of Acts, we are enlightened and encouraged by the power of the gospel as it spread throughout the world and transformed lives. Many miracles were performed during this time by the apostles to validate their message. The book of Acts covers the transitional time between the ascension of Christ and the completion of the New Testament canon, and the apostolic miracles were God's means of authenticating His message through the men who penned the Bible.

Key Verses:

Acts 1:8: "But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes on you; and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth."

Acts 2:4: "All of them were filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other tongues as the Spirit enabled them."

Acts 4:12: "Salvation is found in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given to men by which we must be saved."

Acts 4:19–20: "But Peter and John replied, 'Judge for yourselves whether it is right in God's sight to obey you rather than God. For we cannot help speaking about what we have seen and heard."

Acts 9:3–6: "As [Saul] neared Damascus on his journey, suddenly a light from heaven flashed around him. He fell to the ground and heard a voice say to him, 'Saul, Saul, why do you persecute me?' Who are you, Lord?' Saul asked. 'I am Jesus, whom you are persecuting,' he replied. 'Now get up and go into the city, and you will be told what you must do."

Acts 16:31: "So they said, 'Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and you will be saved."

Brief Summary: The book of Acts gives the history of the Christian church and the spread of the gospel of Jesus Christ, as well as the mounting opposition to it. Although many faithful servants were used to preach and teach the gospel of Jesus Christ, Saul, also called Paul, was the most influential. Before he was converted, Paul zealously persecuted Christians. Paul's dramatic conversion on the Damascus road (Acts 9:1–31) is a highlight of the book of Acts. After his conversion he went to the opposite extreme of loving God and preaching His Word with power and fervency in the Spirit of the true and living God. The disciples were empowered by the Holy Spirit to be His witnesses in Jerusalem (Acts 1—8:3), in Judea and Samaria (8:4—12:25), and to the ends of the earth (13:1—28:31). Included in the last section are Paul's three missionary journeys (13:1—21:16), his trials in Jerusalem and Caesarea (21:17—26:32) and his journey to Rome (27:1—28:31).

Connections: The book of Acts serves as a transition from the Old Covenant to the New. This transition is seen in several key events in Acts. First, there was a change in the ministry of the Holy Spirit, whose primary function in the Old Testament was the external "anointing" of God's people, among them Moses (Numbers 11:17), Othniel (Judges 3:8–10), Gideon (Judges 6:34), and Saul (1 Samuel 10:6–10). After the ascension of Jesus, the Spirit came to live in the very hearts of believers (Romans 8:9–11; 1 Corinthians 3:16), guiding and empowering them from within. The indwelling Spirit is the gift of God to those who come to Him in faith.

Paul's conversion in Acts 9 is a dramatic example of the power of God unto salvation (see Romans 1:16) and the opening of spiritually blinded eyes. Paul admitted that, prior to meeting the risen Savior, he was the most zealous of Israelites and was blameless "concerning righteousness based on the law" (Philippians 3:6), going so far as to persecute those who taught salvation by grace through faith in Christ. But, after his conversion, Paul realized that all his legalistic efforts were worthless, and he considered them "rubbish, that I may gain Christ and be found in him, not having a righteousness of my own that comes from the law, but that which is through faith in Christ—the righteousness that comes from God and is by faith" (Philippians 3:8–9). Before he met Christ, Paul had been blinded by a pharisaical misinterpretation of the law and an inflated opinion of his own righteousness. After he met Christ, the "scales fell from Saul's eyes," as it were (Acts 9:18). His boasting of his own goodness was replaced by his glorying in the cross of Jesus Christ (Romans 3:27; Galatians 6:14).

Peter's vision of the sheet full of unclean animals in Acts 10:9–15 is another sign of the transition from the Old Covenant to the New Covenant's unity of Jew and Gentile in one universal Church. The "unclean" animals in Peter's vision symbolized the Gentiles, who were declared "cleansed" by God through the sacrificial death of Christ. The Old Covenant law had served its purpose (see Galatians 3:23–29), and both Jews and Gentiles are united in the New Covenant of grace through their faith in the death and resurrection of Christ.

Practical Application: God can do amazing things through ordinary people when He empowers them through His Spirit. The book of Acts shows how God essentially took a group of fisherman and commoners and used them to turn the world upside down (Acts 17:6). God took a Christian-hating murderer and transformed him into history's greatest Christian evangelist, the author of almost half the books of the New Testament. God used the persecution the Christians endured to help stimulate the incredibly rapid expansion of the fledgling church. God can and does do the same through us—changing our hearts, empowering us by the Holy Spirit, and giving us a passion to spread the good news of salvation through Christ. If we try to accomplish God's work in the world in our own power, we will fail. Like the disciples in Acts 2, we must faithfully proclaim the gospel, trust God for the results, and devote ourselves "to the apostles' teaching and to fellowship, to the breaking of bread and to prayer" (Acts 2:42).

"PIVOT" WEEK 8

Rob's Main Points from week 8:

Main Texts: Acts 5:25-42 (Daniel 1:1–2, Romans 13:1, Philippians 3:20–21, Colossians 3:17, 1 Timothy 2:1–4, 2 Timothy 2:24–26)

How do we respond to the leaders in our lives?

God is in control of who is in control.

We are now citizens of heaven.

We're here to be ambassadors for Jesus.

Don't confuse the Bible with our traditions and preferences.

Don't confuse the Bible with The Constitution.

Pray for those who are in authority.

Obey those in authority.

We are to always be humble and respectful.

.....

Community Group Icebreakers:

What has been your biggest takeaway from this "Pivot" series so far?

Community Group Discussion Questions:

Rob started this message with the following question: How do we respond to the leaders in our lives?

How do you typically respond to the leaders in your life (and think about all the leaders in your life—boss, government, etc)?

Is your response to authorities contingent simply upon how they treat you, if you totally agree on what they have done or something more transcendent than that?

Read Acts 5

The high priest was the highest religious leader in the country. How do you think it was taken when Peter said, "We must obey God rather than" you?

Do you think that we limit what God wants to do through us when we back away from doing God's will (5:29)?

What command do you find in Romans 13:1-4 (and 1 Tim. 2:1-4)? What are the two reasons Paul gives in support of this command?

What surprises you / what do you find confusing, odd / what do you find encouraging when you hear that there is "no authority except that which God has established"?

When is it acceptable (or even right) for a Christian to disobey the civil authorities? Explain. (See the following Verses)

- 1. Exodus 1:17,21
- 2. Esther 4:16
- 3. Daniel 3:12-18
- 4. Acts 5:29
- 5. Hebrews 11:23

Obeying God rather than men doesn't mean you have to be aggressive and disagreeable. What approach did Daniel use when the overseer wanted them to eat from the King's table (See Dan 1:8-16 and Col 4:5-6)? What can we learn from Daniel's response that we can apply to our lives?

Read Philippians 3:20-21

In verse 20, Paul reminds the church that their citizenship is in heaven. What difference does this fact make in your life?

How does being a citizen of heaven affect your outlook, your behavior, and your priorities? Read John 17:14-16; 2 Cor. 5:16-21; 1 Peter 2:11.

Do you view living as a representative of the gospel much more important then representing a political agenda? Or do you feel they go hand in hand? Explain.

Read Colossians 3:17

What is one principle that ought to guide everything we do? How does this verse help you regarding the conversation (and tension you may feel) regarding obeying God rather than men?

Looking back at this week's teaching and study, is there one thing you'd especially like to remember this week?

What questions do you still have? How can the group help you / pray for you?
